

Risks related to physical restraint can be multi-factorial. If a combination of other risk factors co-exist, the cumulative effect during the restraint to an individual will increase.

